INTRODUCTION

N*everwinter Nights*[™] continues the epic role-playing game revolution with the Shadows of Undrentide expansion pack, featuring all-new prestige classes, monsters, weapons, feats, skills and spells! Engage in a brand new single-player adventure with more than 20 hours of gameplay. Dungeon masters can create richer experiences with three new tilesets, plus enhancements that bring even more depth to the originals. Construct the plot, set projectile traps and develop non-player character conversations with new Neverwinter Aurora Toolset Wizards.

What's Included in this Manual

This manual calls out enhancements to the rules, and provides descriptions of the new features, including skills, feats, spells and weapons. Where necessary, please refer to the original Neverwinter Nights game manual or the Dungeons & Dragons[®] Player's Handbook, Dungeon Master's Guide or the Monster Manual, which are available at book and game stores.

The Story So Far

Deep within the frozen wilds of the Silver Marches, nestled on this frontier and far from the reach of the City of Neverwinter, resides the revered Master Drogan. Sharpened by decades of quests and exploits of lore, this dwarven mage imparts his wisdom to those students willing to challenge themselves.

The riddles of wisdom and tales of fierce monsters grow with every lesson, seemingly embellished by the anticipation of some type of initiation. What kernel of wisdom will you derive from the next enigmatic lesson? What daring adventures will you begin with your next quest?

PLACES AND PEOPLE

Cities and Towns

Your journeys will take you through many lands of the Forgotten Realms, from the Sword Coast North to the Savage Frontier. Below are listed some of the more prominent cities and areas in the game.

The Silver Marches

The Marches is a vast region of northern wilderness more commonly called the Savage Frontier. It is home to a small number of large, well-defended cities and many smaller, but no less well-defended, towns and villages. Citizens of more “civilized” lands in the south consider it a wild land of barbarians and monsters. Those who call it home consider it a land of great promise and beauty, but even they do not deny the hazards posed by the harsh climate and countless monsters.

Hilltop

Hilltop is one of the “Free Towns” in the Silver Marches. Recently founded by ex-soldiers from the Zhentarim armies, the towns are looked upon with suspicion by neighbors familiar with Zhent’s expansionist history. The inhabitants of the Free Towns maintain that they are happy to be rid of the yoke of Zhentarim control, and wish to make a new life for themselves. In addition to former Zhent soldiers, the Free Towns tend to attract folk who are drawn to the local “live and let live” attitude, and neighbors who don’t ask too many questions.

Anauroch

Known as The Great Waste, this tremendous desert was the result of foul magics being leveled upon the lands of the Netheril, who dwelt above then-grassy plains in floating cities raised by magic. Now, few make it their home. Among them are the nomadic Bedine and the Zhentarim, who seek to forge a permanent trade route through the desert.

The Floating Cities of Netheril

The mages of the ancient Netherese Empire worked spells far beyond the reach of the mages of these latter days. Perhaps chief among their creations was the mythallar, the wondrous magical device that enabled the Netherese to raise their fabled floating cities. High above Faerun, the floating cities were mighty citadels safe from virtually all enemies.

The cities were eventually brought low not by any outside force, but by the pride and folly of the Netherese archmage Karsus, who attempted to seize the power of the goddess of magic. He instead managed to shatter the mythallars, sending all the cities of Netheril plummeting to the ground.

The sands of the Anauroch desert swallowed the ruins, and Netheril passed into history, then into legend. Now only the bravest of explorers and adventurers dare to seek the lost cities, for the rewards granted by magical treasures hidden within are easily matched by the dangers of long-lost magic traps and the twisted creatures that lurk in the buried chambers.

Characters in the Tale

Master Drogan

After a long career as adventurer and explorer, Drogan has retired and set up shop in the village of Hilltop as an instructor. He teaches lessons learned from years of close calls and narrow escapes to a group of young hopefuls who are anxious to start their own lives of adventure. Aside from his stories and lessons of adventure, Drogan speaks little of his past, though he exhibits all the hardened pragmatism typical of the northern Shield Dwarves.

Katriana Dorovnia

One of the few non-Zhents allowed to traverse the Zhentarim's Black Road freely, Katriana is a halfling who has earned a reputation as a hard-nosed but fair bargainer. She's always looking for people who can help expand her trading company, either by dealing with it or by keeping it from harm as it travels through dangerous regions.

Adventurers

Dorna Trapspringer

When she heard Drogan had established a school for adventurers and was taking on apprentices in Hilltop, Dorna was one of the first to arrive and apply. She traveled nearly 200 miles alone across the wilds of the Silver Marches from her clan home in the mountains, which many would consider proof enough that she needed no instruction in survival. Still, she seems convinced that she is destined to face even greater danger, and it's unlikely that she's wrong.

Xanos Messarmos

Born to the upper middle class of Chessenta, Xanos found his razor-sharp wit a strong counter to the barbs of his schoolmates in his youth. While no longer young, Xanos still has an acerbic nature, but now it masks his desire to fulfill the role of a true adventurer and gain renown throughout the Realms.

Deekin Scalesinger

Deekin is a rather remarkable member of the Dripping Fang clan of kobolds. Unlike other kobolds, Deekin aspires to something "bigger" than mining, marauding and looting. He aspires to be a skald, a noble northern bard of legend. His goal is to write a heroic saga that will rival any of the classics... his chief problem is that his fellow kobolds are anything but heroic. Deekin has recently decided that he'll have to look a little further afoot if he is going to find a hero befitting his saga.

FOES

The creatures listed below are found in the wilds and dungeons around the Forgotten Realms. Note: You can immediately see how difficult a creature is to defeat by selecting the “Examine” option from the radial menu while playing.

Medusa

The medusa is a hateful, repulsive creature that turns living beings into stone with its gaze. It prizes art objects, fine jewelry, and wealth. A medusa is indistinguishable from a normal human at distances greater than 30 feet. Once the creature is clearly visible, its true nature is revealed. Its hideous face is crowned with a mass of writhing, hissing snakes instead of hair and its eyes glow a deep red. In contrast, its body is perfectly proportioned and exceptionally attractive, although scaly and earthen colored.

Medusas are found in nearly every climate. Some dwell in large cities, becoming active in the criminal underworld to gain what they desire.

Basilisk

The basilisk is a reptilian monster that petrifies living creatures with a mere gaze. Fighting a basilisk requires either careful preparation or considerable good fortune. Basilisks are found in nearly every climate, and tend to build lairs in sheltered subterranean areas, such as caves and shallow burrows. A basilisk usually has a dull brown body with a yellowish underbelly. A single row of bony spines lines its back, and some specimens sport a short, curved horn atop the nose. An adult basilisk grows to about six feet long, not including its tail, which can reach an additional five to seven feet.

Gorgon

Gorgons are bull-like creatures that guard their territory fiercely. They are fond of rocky areas, especially underground labyrinths. A typical gorgon stands over six feet tall at the shoulder and measures eight feet from snout to tail. Although built like a bull, the gorgon is covered with metallic black scales and has silver horns. Its eyes burn red, giving the impression of two hot coals set beneath its heavy brow.

Wyrmlings

Wyrmlings are dragons that have just hatched from the egg. From newborn to about five years old, wyrmlings are only about two to five feet long. Wyrmlings have all the abilities of their older brothers and sisters, but are far less powerful. Nevertheless, it is a fool who approaches a wyrmling without caution.

Faerie Dragons and Pseudodragons

Pseudodragons are tiny, playful members of the dragon family, red-brown in color with fine scales, short horns and sharp teeth. While capable of delivering vicious bites, the pseudodragon's main weapon is its flexible tail, which is about two feet long and barbed.

Faerie dragons have emerald-green scales and brightly colored butterfly wings. Some faerie dragons and pseudodragons may seek humanoid companionship, and often serve as familiars to wizards.

Sphinx

A sphinx is an enigmatic creature with great, feathery wings and the body of a lion. Often very intelligent, they constantly seek out challenges for their staggering intellects. Riddles, puzzles, and other such things delight them to no end.

Formians

Formians are dimensional travelers that come from a plane devoted to law. Their colonies include: Workers, who make up most of a population; Taskmasters, who drive the Workers; Soldiers, who fiercely protect the colony and queen; Mymarchs, who are intelligent enough to have learned to use magic; and the Queen, who leads the whole colony.

They are ruthlessly expansionist, though not actually evil.

Stingers

Stingers are a warlike race of scorpion-centaurs. They have a complex society that seems incomprehensible to other races. They are known for divining the future through the vibrations of the earth. Witnesses have also seen them scuttle by in strange, aggressive "races" that have no clear purpose. Both male and female stingers fight in service to their chieftain, and even small tribes will contain a powerful shaman. Stingers live in twisting colonies dug out of the sand or rock.

PLAYER'S HANDBOOK

The Shadows of Undrentide is an adventure featuring all-new skills and feats with which your characters may grow, as well as five new prestige classes. For this reason, Shadows of Undrentide has been created as a campaign that works best starting with a new, 1st-level character. However, those who prefer to use a pre-existing character may do so.

Note: There are certain places in Shadows of Undrentide where you will not be able to rest as you could in the original game. Some dungeons or caves are not suitable for a character to lay his or her head down to recuperate, as they are damp, noisy, rocky, or too dangerous.

Note: In hardcore mode, petrification is permanent.

Prestige Classes

Shadows of Undrentide adds a new option for character development called prestige classes. Prestige classes are like regular classes, except that they have requirements that must be met before one can attain the class. These powerful classes grant characters unique new abilities unavailable to the base classes. Some classes may require a certain number of ranks in one or more skills, others may require the ability to cast arcane or divine spells.

Each class has a range of abilities that make it substantially different from the other classes. These abilities are an integral part of your character's class, and mastering them will aid you.

Arcane Archer

Master of the elven war bands, the arcane archer is a warrior skilled in using magic to supplement his combat prowess. Fighters, rangers, paladins and barbarians become arcane archers to add a little magic to their combat abilities. Conversely, wizards and sorcerers may adopt this prestige class to add combat capabilities to their repertoires.

- Arrow of Death: This ability, gained at the 10th level, allows the arcane archer to, once per day, fire an arrow that can instantly kill an opponent.

Assassin

The assassin is a master of dealing quick, lethal blows. Assassins often function as spies, informants, killers for hire, or agents of vengeance. The assassin's skill in a variety of dark arts allows him to carry out missions of death with shocking, terrifying precision. Rogues, monks and bards are ideal candidates for training as assassins.

Unlike the blackguard, the assassin is not evil due to devotion to an evil power, but rather due to a complete lack of morals or ethics. These ruthless and avaricious killers have but one requirement other than a predisposition for evil and a penchant for stealth. They must kill another intelligent being for no other reason than pay.

- Hit Dice: d6

Blackguard

A blackguard epitomizes evil. He is nothing short of a mortal fiend, a black knight with the foulest sort of reputation. A blackguard is an evil villain of the first order, equivalent in power to the righteous paladin, but devoted to the powers of darkness. No one class makes the best blackguard — all that is required is a willingness to serve the forces of darkness.

Harper Scout

Harpers are members of a secret society dedicated to holding back evil, preserving knowledge, and maintaining the balance between civilization and the wild. Harpers learn arcane spells and many skills to help them in their duties of espionage, stealth and reporting information.

Many Harpers are bards, but by no means all. Ranger, rogue, sorcerer and wizard are common vocations for Harpers, as these classes tend to have versatility and mobility. All have some skill at manipulating others, a resistance to outside mental influences, acute abilities of perception, and a talent for solving problems.

Not all Harpers are members of the Harper scout prestige class, and rank within the organization does not depend upon a character's level in this or any other class. However, most of the higher-ranked Harpers have at least one level in the Harper scout prestige class.

The highest-ranked Harpers are called the High Harpers, and they are responsible for most of the long-term planning for the organization. The High Harpers are voted into their position by a secret ballot among the other High Harpers, with the criteria being experience, exceptional service, and discretion in implementing the Harpers' plans.

- Hit Die: d6
- Proficiencies: simple weapons, light armor
- Skill Points: 4 + Int modifier

Requirements

To qualify to become a Harper scout, a character must fulfill all of the following criteria:

- Feats: Alertness, Iron Will
- Skills: Search 4 ranks, Persuade 8 ranks, Lore 6 ranks, Discipline 4 ranks
- Alignment: Any non-evil

Abilities

- Harper Knowledge: Like a bard, a Harper scout has a knack for picking up odds and ends of knowledge. This ability works exactly like the bardic knowledge ability of the bard class. If a Harper scout has bard levels, the character's Harper scout levels and bard levels stack for bardic knowledge.
- Favored Enemy: A Harper scout selects a favored enemy just as a ranger does. Upon reaching 4th level as a Harper scout, the bonus against the Harper scout's first favored enemy increases to +2, and she gains a new favored enemy at +1.

- Deneir's Eye: At 2nd level, the Harper scout gains a +2 holy bonus to saving throws against traps. This is a supernatural ability.
- Tymora's Smile: At 3rd level, once per day, the Harper scout or a target receives a +2 saving throw bonus on all saving throws for 5 turns. This is a supernatural ability.
- Lliira's Heart: At 4th level, the Harper scout gains a +2 holy bonus to saving throws against mind-affecting spells. This is a supernatural ability.
- Spells: These spells are cast as arcane spells, so they are subject to arcane spell failure if the Harper scout is wearing armor: At 2nd level, the Harper scout gains the ability to cast the spell Sleep once per day. At 3rd level, the Harper scout gains the ability to cast the spell Cat's Grace once per day. At 4th level, the Harper scout gains the ability to cast Eagle's Splendor once per day. At 5th level, the Harper scout gains the ability to cast the spell Invisibility once per day.
- Craft Harper Item: At 5th level, the Harper scout gains the ability to create two types of potions. The Harper scout can create one potion per day, either a Cat's Grace potion or Eagle's Splendor. To create either potion, the Harper scout must spend 60 gold and 5 experience points. These potions allow a Harper scout to better support her agents and allies.

Shadowdancer

Operating in the border between light and darkness, shadowdancers are nimble artists of deception. They are mysterious and unknown, never completely trusted but always inducing wonder when met.

Rogues, bards and monks make excellent shadowdancers, but fighters, barbarians, rangers and paladins also find that shadowdancer abilities allow them to strike at their opponents with surprise and skill. Wizard, sorcerer, cleric and druid shadowdancers employ the defensive capabilities inherent in the prestige class to allow them to cast their spells from safety and move away quickly. Despite their link with shadows and trickery, shadowdancers are as often good as evil. They may use their incredible abilities as they wish.

Shadowdancers often work in troupes, never staying in one place too long. Some use their abilities to entertain. Others operate as thieves, using their abilities to infiltrate past defenses and dupe others. All shadowdancer troupes maintain an aura of mystery among the populace, who never know whether to think well or ill of them.

- Hit Dice: d8
- Proficiencies: simple weapons, light armor
- Skill Points: 6 + Int modifier

Requirements

To qualify as a shadowdancer, a character must fulfill all of the following criteria:

- Skills: Move Silently 8 ranks, Hide 10 ranks, Tumble 5 ranks
- Feats: Dodge, Mobility

Abilities

- Hide in Plain Sight: The shadowdancer is able to use the Hide skill even while being observed.
- Shadow Daze: Once per day, the shadowdancer may inflict an illusory daze upon a target. This daze lasts for five rounds.
- Summon Shadow: Once per day, the shadowdancer can summon a shadow. This shadow is extremely difficult to turn and becomes more powerful as the shadowdancer gains levels.
- Shadow Evade: Three times per day, the shadowdancer can call upon the shadows in the area to help conceal her. The shadowdancer gains a concealment bonus, damage reduction and an AC bonus that improves with experience.

Alignment Shift

If your character acts outside of what would be appropriate for his or her alignment, those actions can cause a shift in alignment, from good to evil, lawful to chaotic, and so on. The severity of the shift varies with the deed, and can sometimes have extreme consequences. For example, if a paladin performs an overtly evil or chaotic act, which changes his or her alignment from lawful good, he or she will no longer be a paladin.

Most out-of-character actions only create slight shifts in alignment. A good character can have a bad day and threaten to rough up a shopkeeper with little consequence. If, however, that good character acts on the threat and kills the clerk, a significant alignment shift toward evil would occur.

Good-aligned characters will take a bigger alignment "hit" from performing an evil act than a neutral character. Likewise, for evil-aligned characters who perform good deeds.

New Skills

Note: To receive a bonus from a skill, you must put at least one point in that skill when you level up your character.

True Strike: Through magical intuition, the caster gains a +20 bonus to attack rolls.

Expeditious Retreat: The caster becomes 150% faster than their normal movement rate, allowing them to flee from dangerous encounters. This spell has no effect if the caster is already hasted.

2nd-Level

Tasha's Hideous Laughter: If the target fails his or her saving throw, the target will begin laughing hysterically, and will be unable to defend themselves until the spell wears off. A creature whose racial type is different from the caster gains a +4 bonus on its saving throw, because humor doesn't "translate" well.

Continual Flame: This creates a magical flame that burns like a torch until dispelled.

Balagarn's Iron Horn: The caster creates a deep, resonant vibration that shakes all creatures in the area of effect from their feet if they fail a strength check (as if the caster had a strength of 20). Every creature that falls will be knocked down for one round.

Displacement: The target gains 50% concealment, through the caster's ability to emulate the natural abilities of the displacer beast.

4th-Level

Isaac's Lesser Missile Storm: A number of energy missiles (one per caster level to a maximum of 10) appear and randomly target and hit any hostile creature in the area of effect. If there are more creatures than missiles, only the closest targets will be damaged. If there are more missiles than creatures, one of the targets will be hit with multiple missiles. Each missile does 1d6 points of damage.

5th-Level

Bigby's Interposing Hand: A giant hand appears over the target, making it difficult for him to attack. He receives a -10 penalty to all attack rolls for the duration of the spell.

Firebrand: Masses of flame (one per caster level) appear and randomly target and hit any hostile creature in the area of effect. If there are more creatures than balls of flame, only the closest targets will be damaged. If there are more balls of flame than creatures, the excess balls of flame disappear. Each ball of flame explodes for 1d6 points of damage per caster level (to a maximum of 15d6).

6th-Level

Bigby's Forceful Hand: A giant hand appears and attempts to stomp and knock down one target. The hand gains a +14 bonus on the strength check.

Isaac's Greater Missile Storm: A number of energy missiles (one per caster level to a maximum of 20) appear and randomly target and hit any hostile creature in the area of effect. If there are more creatures than missiles, only the closest targets will be damaged. If there are more missiles than creatures, one of the targets will be hit with multiple missiles. Each missile does 3d6 points of damage.

7th-Level

Bigby's Grasping Hand: A giant hand appears and attacks the target. If the hand hits and succeeds in a grapple check, the opponent is held for the duration of the spell.

Banishment: The caster is able to cause all summoned creatures, familiars, animal companions and Outsiders in the area of effect to be destroyed. A number of creatures equal to twice the caster's level in HD can be banished.

8th-Level

Bigby's Clenched Fist: A giant hand appears and attacks the target, once each round for the duration of the spell. Each hit causes 1d8+11 points of damage to the target and if they fail their saving throw they are stunned for that round as well.

Sunburst: The caster directs a brilliant explosion that causes 1d6 points of damage per caster level to all undead creatures, to a maximum of 25d6 (6d6 points of damage to creatures that are not undead). Vampires are destroyed instantly if they fail a Reflex saving throw. All enemies in the area of effect must also make a successful Reflex saving throw or be blinded permanently (the blindness can only be magically removed).

Greater Sanctuary: The caster becomes ethereal. No other creature can detect the caster. Attacking or performing a hostile action will dispel Greater Sanctuary.

9th-Level

Bigby's Crushing Hand: A giant hand appears and attacks the target. If it hits and succeeds in a grapple check, the target is held fast for the duration of the spell and suffers 2d6+12 points of damage each round.

Weapons

There are several new weapons with varying qualities that you will come across during your adventures.

Grenade-like Weapons

Acid Flask: Flasks of acid, most often used by alchemists and engravers, can be useful weapons for an adventurer, particularly when faced with creatures that may be resistant to other attacks.

Alchemist's Fire Flask: These flasks contain a volatile mixture that bursts into flame upon contact with air.

Caltrops: Caltrops are small pyramid-shaped spikes designed so that no matter which way they fall, a sharp spike is always pointing up. They are often used to slow or hobble pursuit.

Choking Powder: Choking powder is a mix of irritating peppers and natural herbs that can temporarily incapacitate a target.

Holy Water Flask: Flasks of water blessed by a cleric of a good deity are valuable weapons against the undead.

Tanglefoot Bag: Tanglefoot bags are packed with stringy, sticky strands that burst from the bag on impact to snare a target.

Thunderstone: Thunderstones are multi-sided rocks coated with an alchemical formula that detonate with a deafening boom on contact with a hard surface.

Toolset Additions

In addition to new single-player adventure, The Shadows of Undrentide contains new content that you can use to create your own adventures.

Tilesets

Three new tilesets have been added to the game:

Desert: A wind-swept barren waste, suitable for the Anauroch or any other desert land.

Ruins: The decaying ruins of a once-great city, including buildings, streets and plazas.

Rural Winter: A snow-covered version of the rural tileset for use in the frigid north.

Aurora Toolset — New Wizards & Features

The Toolset also contains new wizards and features:

Plot Wizard: This wizard helps create plots to use in a module or to share among other module creators. Input the cast of characters, the props used and the basic story in a point-by-point format, and the wizard will create all scripts and journal entries automatically. The plot can then be further customized using the toolset to create a truly immersive story.

Store Setup Wizard: This wizard makes setting up stores easy. Input simple data and the wizard does the rest.

Waypoint Walking: Setting up a path for a creature to walk has been streamlined. Simply select the creature and point out where it should walk.

Exporting and Importing: You can export multiple data types at once. You can also now make all the custom data in your module into one ERF file for sharing across modules.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT (U.S. & CANADA)

Help Via the Internet

Up-to-the-minute technical information about Atari products is generally available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week via the Internet at:

<http://www.atarisupport.com>

Through this site you'll have access to our FAQ (Frequently Asked Questions) documents, our FTP (File Transfer Protocol) area where you can download patches if needed, our Hints/Cheat Codes if they're available, and an E-Mail area where you can get help and ask questions if you do not find your answers within the FAQ.

Note: In the event we must send you a Hint Sheet, FAQ document, patch or update disc via E-mail, we may require verifiable consent from a parent or guardian in order to protect children's privacy and safety online. Consent Forms are available at the web site listed above.

Help Via Telephone/Fax in the United States & Canada

For phone assistance, call Atari Technical Support at (425) 951-7106. Our Interactive Voice Response system is generally available 24/7, providing automated support solutions immediately.

Great News! We've improved our Automated Systems so that you can get product-specific Troubleshooting help more quickly. All you need to do is enter the product's Part # when prompted to do so. This will take you directly to all of our known issues and solutions for this title. The product's Part # is located in several places (on the CD label, package and/or plastic disc case) and is usually identified by a number such as 04-12345. When prompted by the Automated System, enter the last five digits of your product's Part #. (For example, Part # 04-12345 would require that you enter the "12345" portion of the number for that product.) Note: Some products simply feature a five-digit Part # without an "04-" prefix.

Live support is generally available Monday through Friday, 8:00 AM until 6:00 PM (Pacific Time). Note: We may be closed on major holidays.

Before making your call, we ask that you be at your computer, have the following information available, and be ready to take notes:

- System Make and Model
- Processor Type
- Operating System, including version number if possible (such as Windows® 98; Windows® Me)
- RAM (Memory)
- Video and sound card data and drivers
- Any screen or error messages you've encountered (and where)

You may also fax in your Technical Support questions or problems to (425) 806-0480.

Product Return Procedures in the United States & Canada

In the event our technicians at (425) 951-7106 determine that you need to forward materials directly to us, please include a brief letter explaining what is enclosed and why. Make sure you include the Return Merchandise Authorization Number (RMA#) supplied to you by the technician, and your telephone number in case we need to call you. You will receive the mailing address when the technician gives you the RMA#. Any materials not containing this RMA# will be returned to you unprocessed.

Warranty Policy in the United States & Canada

If our technicians determine that the product storage medium is found to be defective within ninety (90) days of original purchase, (unless otherwise provided by applicable law), Atari, Inc. will replace the item free of charge, to the original purchaser, if the item is accompanied by the original dated receipt and packaging. If you do not have the original receipt, or if the warranty period has expired, Atari, Inc. will replace the product storage medium for a nominal fee.
