Powerful Retention Management to Improve eDiscovery

Integro

Integro Email Retention Manager (IERM)

Technology Description

In order to help IBM Content Manager customers better manage the retention of their email content, Integro has developed the Email Retention Manager product (IERM). IERM provides automatic deletion of content in the IBM Content Manager repository based on a variety of easily configurable rules. Additionally, the product can manage retention of email in the active mail environment, ensuring retention requirements are universally applied.

Features & Benefits

- Dispose of Redundant, Outdated and Trivial (ROT) email content.
- Reduce legal risk and eDiscovery costs.
- Reduce the costs associated with storage including; indexing, management, and raw storage costs.

Value Proposition

The Integro Email Retention Manager offers several key features needed by all organizations that need retention management capabilities for their archived and active email, including flexible retention policies for safe disposal of content based on organizational rules such as by age from any date field or cut off date. It supports both Microsoft Exchange and IBM Lotus Notes messaging systems and provides the only way to synchronize user deletions in the active Domino mail environment to the Content Manager archive. Inclusion and exclusion lists are based on User, Group (Domino), Mail File (Domino) and Mail File Path (Domino). IERM respects legal holds placed by IBM eDiscovery Manager and provides detailed logging providing statistics such as # of users/mail files processed, # of documents deleted, processing time, etc. The system provides an audit mode to review what will happen before you delete and can be run on a manual scheduled basis.
