

Cognos Disclosure Management

Organizations are tasked with creating different types of reports on a recurring basis. But outdated tools and inefficient processes make reporting a slow, manual and error-prone process.

- 81% of managers say the primary business application for generating business reports are spreadsheets.¹
- 90% of companies admit that staff and management spend too much time collecting and consolidating or reviewing and approving various elements associated with the reporting process.²

IBM Cognos Disclosure Management streamlines and automates the report creation process.

Leading beverage and food company; 12 days of manual work saved per quarter; ROT achieved in 1 reporting cycle.

- Increases consistency and accuracy by linking numbers and narrative directly to source data.
- Provides visibility and transparency with built-in workflow and full audit trail with version control.
