Review of Windows Phone 8 environment folder structure

- The Windows Phone 8 environment includes the following folders:
  - css The properties that are specified here override the CSS files from the common folder.
  - images environment-specific images can be added here. If an image with the same file name exists in the common folder, it is overwritten in the Windows Phone 8 application.
  - js Contains JavaScript™ that can extend and, if required, override JavaScript from the common folder.

Review of Windows Phone 8 environment folder structure - continued

- The native folder under Windows Phone 8 contains automatically generated Windows™ Phone 8 app code.
  - The files in native/www are regenerated each time that the application is built, so any changes made to these files are lost.
  - The Resources folder under windowsphone8 contains resources that are used by the native code.
- The nativeResources folder contains resources that are used by the native code.
  - In it, the applicationBar folder contains icons for Windows Phone 8 TabBar.

Opening your application with Visual Studio Express 2012

- The Eclipse IDE does not support Windows Phone 8 application development. Your app must be transferred to Visual Studio Express 2012 IDE (available only under Windows 8).
- To open a Visual Studio project from the native folder, right-click the .csproj file and then select Open.

Opening your application with Visual Studio Express 2012 - continued

- As an alternative, you can manually open the .csproj file within Microsoft Visual Studio. Click Open Project on the left menu and navigate to the project folder.
- If you are running Eclipse in Windows 8, you can also right-click the Windows Phone 8 project and select Run As > Visual Studio project. The Worklight plug-in automatically opens Visual Studio for you.
